Support 2U (S2U)

S2U provides information technology (IT) support to small businesses based in country Z. Its customers use IT, but they are not big enough to be able to afford their own IT support.

S2U was set up by Kareem, who is an IT engineer. When Kareem started the business he employed three engineers. Now S2U employs over 50 engineers and has customers throughout country Z.

S2U's services include:

- the creation and maintenance of business websites
- 24-hour telephone and internet support to report and fix IT problems
- remote and on-site installation of software.

Timeline of S2U

Developing a new business strategy

Ruhi was concerned about S2U's recent sales performance. She asked an external management consultancy to analyse the market. The consultancy produced a Porter's five forces analysis (see Appendix 4).

Ruhi is now developing a new business strategy to enable S2U to grow in the future.

Appendix 1: Summary of Kareem's 2017 marketing plan for S2U

Objective – to grow the number of businesses using S2U's services.

Resources – limited marketing budget, but one IT engineer has skills in designing online marketing.

Secondary research – 94% of businesses use IT systems, but only 57% of businesses have specialist IT support.

Primary research – survey of businesses to identify why they do not currently use S2U's services:

- have own IT support employees
- S2U is unknown, would prefer a more established brand
- S2U's prices are too high

Planned marketing mix:

Product – 24-hour, 7-day-a-week, telephone and internet IT support services

Price – dynamic pricing method

Promotion – sales promotion, direct promotion, digital promotion

Place – services offered direct to small businesses

Kareem is the 'new face' of daytime television as he becomes the IT expert on Channel 17's morning program. Kareem, Managing Director of Support 2U, will bring his expertise in solving IT problems onto your television screens every week.
