SECTION ONE: ALEXANDER THE GREAT

Answer ONE of the following three questions.

EITHER

1 Read the passage below, and answer the questions which follow:

This is the account given by Ptolemy and Aristobulus; there is also another story to the effect that Alexander on the following day entered the tent accompanied only by Hephaestion, and that Darius' mother, in doubt, owing to the similarity of their dress, which of the two was the King, prostrated herself before Hephaestion, because he was taller than his companion. Hephaestion stepped back, and one of the Queen's attendant's rectified her mistake by pointing to Alexander; the Queen withdrew in profound embarrassment, but Alexander merely remarked that her error was of no account, for Hephaestion, too, was an Alexander – a 'protector of men'. I record this anecdote not as necessarily true, though it is credible enough. If such were indeed the facts, I cannot but admire Alexander both for treating these women with such compassion and for showing such respect and confidence towards his friend; if the story is apocryphal, it was at least inspired by Alexander's character: thus he would have acted, thus he would have spoken – and on that account I admire him no less. 5 10

(Arrian, The Campaigns of Alexander 2)

- (i) Which battle took place just before this meeting with Darius' mother? [1]
 - (ii) In which year did this battle take place? [1]
 - (iii) Apart from Darius' mother, which other members of his family did Alexander capture? [2]
 - (iv) State two of the objects Darius left behind as he fled the battlefield. [2]
 - (v) Briefly describe how Alexander won this battle. [4]
 - (vi) Using this passage as a starting point, explain how important Hephaestion was in Alexander's life. [15]
- [25]

OR

2 'Alexander's policy of fusion did more harm than good.' Explain to what extent you agree with this statement. [25]

OR

3 'Alexander owed his military success to the army and generals he inherited from his father, rather than his own ability.' To what extent do you agree with this statement? [25]

SECTION TWO: SOCRATES

Answer ONE of the following three questions.

EITHER

4 Read the passage below, and answer the questions which follow:

SOCRATES: Look at it in this way. Suppose that while we were preparing to run away from here (or however one should describe it) the Laws and communal interest of Athens were to come and confront us with this question: 'Now, Socrates, what are you proposing to do? Can you deny that by this act which you are contemplating you intend, so far as you have the power, to destroy us, the Laws, and the whole State as well? Do you imagine that a city can continue to exist and not be turned upside down, if the legal judgements which are pronounced in it have no force but are nullified and destroyed by private persons?' – How shall we answer this question, Crito, and others of the same kind? 5

(Plato, Crito 50)

- (i) Where does this conversation take place? [1]
 - (ii) According to Crito, why should Socrates run away? Give four reasons. [4]
 - (iii) Name one person Crito has said will help Socrates escape. [1]
 - (iv) At his trial, what reward had Socrates argued that he deserved? [2]
 - (v) What punishment did he then go on to propose for himself? [2]
 - (vi) Using this passage as a starting point, explain how Socrates uses the Laws of Athens in his argument against escaping. [15]
- [25]

OR

5 From your reading of Plato's Apology, explain why you think Socrates was actually tried, found guilty and sentenced to death. [25]

OR

6 'A pointless exercise.' How far do you agree with this opinion of the Socratic Method? In your answer, you should discuss at least two of the dialogues in The Last Days of Socrates. [25]

SECTION THREE: ARISTOPHANES

Answer ONE of the following three questions.

EITHER:

7 Read the passage below, and answer the questions which follow:

- ANTICLEON: Oh, there you are, you clot-pated old fornicator! What are you trying to do, screw yourself into your coffin? You'll never get away with this.
- PROCLEON: Ah, how you'd love a nice court case, with vinegar dressing!
- ANTICLEON: Is this a time for sauce? It's a serious matter, kidnapping a flute girl.
- PROCLEON: Flute girl? What flute girl? Come to me with one foot in the grave and babble about flute girls? 5
- ANTICLEON: Yes, this girl you've got here – Dardanis.
- PROCLEON: Oh, you mean this torch. Yes, someone's burning it in honour of the gods, I suppose.
- ANTICLEON: [prodding the girl]: A torch, did you say? 10
- PROCLEON: Surely. Pretty pattern it has on it, don't you think?
- ANTICLEON: H'm. What's this dark patch in the middle?
- PROCLEON: Oh, they get like that sometimes. It's the resin.
- ANTICLEON: And what's this lump at the back? Feels uncommonly like a bottom to me. 15
- [The girl squeals.]
- PROCLEON: Oh, er- that's where there was a branch sticking out.
- ANTICLEON: Branch my foot. [To the girl] You come with me.
- PROCLEON: Here, here, what are you going to do?
- ANTICLEON: Take her away from you. I don't believe you could have done anything about it anyway: you're too old for such things. 20
- PROCLEON: Oh, indeed? Well, let me tell you something. Once when I was on a State mission to the Olympic Games, I saw Ephudion fight Ascondas, and the old man fought very well, let me tell you. I shall never forget the way he drew back his arm, like this – and then, with a smashing blow, he knocked the young man down. 25
- [He suits the action to the word. The GIRL escapes.]
- And the moral is: watch out, or you'll get a black eye.
- ANTICLEON: [staggering to his feet]: Well, you certainly seem to have learnt that lesson!

(Aristophanes, Wasps)

- (i) From where is Procleon (Philocleon) returning? [1]
- (ii) State two items of clothing Procleon (Philocleon) was given to wear by Anticleon (Bdelycleon). [2]
- (iii) What has Procleon (Philocleon) promised to give the flute girl before this passage starts? [1]
- (iv) From this passage, find three examples of Aristophanes' comic technique. Write out the example, identify the technique and explain why it is funny. [6]
- (v) 'you certainly seem to have learnt that lesson' (line 28). What lessons do you think Anticleon (Bdelycleon) was trying to teach Procleon (Philocleon) in Wasps and how successful was he? [15]

OR

- 8 'The success of Frogs is entirely due to its plot.' How far do you agree with this statement? [25]

OR

- 9 How might the spectacle of watching a performance of Wasps and Frogs have added to an ancient audience's enjoyment of the plays? In your answer, you should discuss both plays. [25]

SECTION FOUR: GREEK VASE PAINTING

Answer ONE of the following three questions.

EITHER

10 Study the image below, and answer the questions which follow:

- (i) What is the precise name given to this type of pot? [2]
- (ii) For what purpose was this type of pot used? How is the shape of the pot suitable for this purpose? [2]
- (iii) Name the painter of this pot. [1]
- (iv) To which group of painters did he belong? [1]
- (v) Approximately when was this pot made? [1]
- (vi) Name the central figures on the pot and give a brief outline of the myth depicted. [3]
- (vii) Analyse the composition of the scene and show how, and why, the painter has contrasted the two main figures. [15]

[25]

- 11 Stories connected with the Trojan War were very popular in Greek Art. What opportunities and challenges did the subject of the Trojan War offer to vase-painters? In your answer, you should refer to details from specific pots you have studied. [25]
- 12 'The second half of the 6th century BC was a time of bold exploration and lively experimentation.' How far does your study of Greek vase-painting support this view? You should support your answer with reference to specific pots by named painters. [25]
