Cambridge International AS and A Level
History

9389

For examination in June and November 2017 and 2018

Changes to syllabus for 2017 and 2018

This syllabus has been updated, the latest version of the syllabus is version 3, published September 2017.

Changes have been made to section 1.4, page 5, and now states:

Cambridge AICE Diploma is the group award of the Cambridge International AS and A Level. It gives schools the opportunity to benefit from offering a broad and balanced curriculum by recognising the achievements of candidates who pass examinations in three different curriculum groups.

History (9389) is in Group 3, Arts and Humanities.

Candidates can use up to two History credits towards their Cambridge AICE Diploma. They can achieve the two credits by taking:

- the full A Level
- two AS Levels on different historical topics (European, American or International History) over two or more series within a 25-month period. For example, candidates could answer questions from the European section of both papers in the June series, and then answer questions from the American section of both papers in the November series.

For candidates taking two History AS Levels, the following rules apply:

- Each topic (European, American or International History) can only contribute one credit towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma. For example, if a candidate answers questions from the European section of a paper in more than one series, only one credit will count.
- If a candidate achieves a 'mixed' AS Level by answering questions on one topic in the first paper and questions on a different topic in the second paper, this AS Level only counts as one credit towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma. It cannot be combined with another AS Level in History from another series to make up two credits.

Teachers should explain these rules to candidates taking the Cambridge AICE Diploma, as candidates must select the questions they answer carefully to meet these requirements.

Learn more about the Cambridge AICE Diploma at www.cie.org.uk/aice

Changes have been made to the final Key Question in Theme 2 of Depth Study 5: Southeast Asian on page 33. The Key Question now states:

What problems faced the supporters of democracy in Burma (Myanmar) after independence?

▮ Significant changes to the syllabus are indicated by black vertical lines either side of the text. ▮

1. Introduction

1.1 Why choose Cambridge?

Cambridge International Examinations is part of the University of Cambridge. We prepare school students for life, helping them develop an informed curiosity and a lasting passion for learning. Our international qualifications are recognised by the world's best universities and employers, giving students a wide range of options in their education and career. As a not-for-profit organisation, we devote our resources to delivering high-quality educational programmes that can unlock learners' potential.

Our programmes set the global standard for international education. They are created by subject experts, are rooted in academic rigour, and provide a strong platform for progression. Over 10 000 schools in 160 countries work with us to prepare nearly a million learners for their future with an international education from Cambridge.

Cambridge learners

Cambridge programmes and qualifications develop not only subject knowledge but also skills. We encourage Cambridge learners to be:

- confident in working with information and ideas – their own and those of others
- responsible for themselves, responsive to and respectful of others
- reflective as learners, developing their ability to learn
- innovative and equipped for new and future challenges
- engaged intellectually and socially, ready to make a difference.

Recognition

Cambridge International AS and A Levels are recognised around the world by schools, universities and employers. The qualifications are accepted as proof of academic ability for entry to universities worldwide, although some courses do require specific subjects.

Cambridge AS and A Levels are accepted in all UK universities. University course credit and advanced standing is often available for Cambridge International AS and A Levels in countries such as the USA and Canada.

1.2 Why choose Cambridge International AS and A Level?

Cambridge International AS and A Levels are international in outlook, but retain a local relevance. The syllabuses provide opportunities for contextualised learning and the content has been created to suit a wide variety of schools, avoid cultural bias and develop essential lifelong skills, including creative thinking and problem-solving.

Our aim is to balance knowledge, understanding and skills in our programmes and qualifications to enable students to become effective learners and to provide a solid foundation for their continuing educational journey. Cambridge International AS and A Levels give learners building blocks for an individualised curriculum that develops their knowledge, understanding and skills.

Schools can offer almost any combination of 60 subjects and learners can specialise or study a range of subjects, ensuring a breadth of knowledge. Giving learners the power to choose helps motivate them throughout their studies.

Cambridge International A Levels typically take two years to complete and offer a flexible course of study that gives learners the freedom to select subjects that are right for them.

Cambridge International AS Levels often represent the first half of an A Level course but may also be taken as a freestanding qualification. The content and difficulty of a Cambridge International AS Level examination is equivalent to the first half of a corresponding Cambridge International A Level.

Through our professional development courses and our support materials for Cambridge International AS and A Levels, we provide the tools to enable teachers to prepare learners to the best of their ability and work with us in the pursuit of excellence in education.

Cambridge International AS and A Levels have a proven reputation for preparing learners well for university, employment and life. They help develop the in-depth subject knowledge and understanding which are so important to universities and employers.

Learners studying Cambridge International AS and A Levels have opportunities to:

- acquire an in-depth subject knowledge
- develop independent thinking skills
- apply knowledge and understanding to new as well as familiar situations
- handle and evaluate different types of information sources
- think logically and present ordered and coherent arguments
- make judgements, recommendations and decisions
- present reasoned explanations, understand implications and communicate them clearly and logically
- work and communicate in English.

Guided learning hours

Cambridge International A Level syllabuses are designed on the assumption that learners have about 360 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. Cambridge International AS Level syllabuses are designed on the assumption that learners have about 180 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. This is for guidance only and the number of hours required to gain the qualification may vary according to local curricular practice and the learners' prior experience of the subject.

1.3 Why choose Cambridge International AS and A Level History?

Cambridge International AS/A Level History is accepted by universities and employers as proof of knowledge and understanding of History. Successful candidates gain lifelong skills including:

- assessing different interpretations of an argument
- formulating their own ideas about a subject
- presenting clear and logical arguments
- evaluating historical evidence
- developing an understanding of historical concepts such as cause and effect, similarity and difference and continuity and change.

Cambridge International AS and A Level History is one of the most recognised qualifications around the world. It is accepted as proof of academic ability and of historical knowledge for entry to universities. Every year, thousands of students with Cambridge International AS and A Level History win places at good universities worldwide.

Prior learning

We recommend that candidates who are beginning this course should have previously completed a Cambridge O Level or Cambridge IGCSE course in History or the equivalent.

Progression

Cambridge International A Level History provides a suitable foundation for the study of History or related courses in higher education. Equally it is suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Arts, Humanities and Social Science related areas (such as Law), or as part of a course of general education.

Cambridge International AS Level History constitutes the first half of the Cambridge International A Level course in History and therefore provides a suitable foundation for the study of History at Cambridge International A Level and for related courses in higher education. Depending on local university entrance requirements, it may permit or assist progression directly to university courses in History or some other subjects. It is also suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Arts, Humanities and Social Science related areas, or as part of a course of general education.

1.4 Cambridge AICE (Advanced International Certificate of Education) Diploma

Cambridge AICE Diploma is the group award of the Cambridge International AS and A Level. It gives schools the opportunity to benefit from offering a broad and balanced curriculum by recognising the achievements of candidates who pass examinations in different curriculum groups.

Candidates can use up to two History credits towards their Cambridge AICE Diploma. They can achieve the two credits by taking:

- the full A Level
- two AS Levels on different historical topics (European, American or International History) over two or more series within a 25-month period. For example, candidates could answer questions from the European section of both papers in the June series, and then answer questions from the American section of both papers in the November series.

For candidates taking two History AS Levels, the following rules apply:

- Each topic (European, American or International History) can only contribute one credit towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma. For example, if a candidate answers questions from the European section of a paper in more than one series, only one credit will count.
- If a candidate achieves a 'mixed' AS Level by answering questions on one topic in the first paper and questions on a different topic in the second paper, this AS Level only counts as one credit towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma. It cannot be combined with another AS Level in History from another series to make up two credits.

Teachers should explain these rules to candidates taking the Cambridge AICE Diploma, as candidates must select the questions they answer carefully to meet these requirements.

1.5 How can I find out more?

If you are already a Cambridge school

You can make entries for this qualification through your usual channels. If you have any questions, please contact us at info@cie.org.uk

If you are not yet a Cambridge school

Learn about the benefits of becoming a Cambridge school at www.cie.org.uk/startcambridge. Email us at info@cie.org.uk to find out how your organisation can register to become a Cambridge school.

2. Teacher support

2.1 Support materials

We send Cambridge syllabuses, past question papers and examiner reports to cover the last examination series to all Cambridge schools.

You can also go to our public website at www.cie.org.uk/alevel to download current and future syllabuses together with specimen papers or past question papers and examiner reports from one series.

For teachers at registered Cambridge schools a range of additional support materials for specific syllabuses is available from Teacher Support, our secure online support for Cambridge teachers. Go to <http://teachers.cie.org.uk> (username and password required).

2.2 Endorsed resources

We work with publishers providing a range of resources for our syllabuses including print and digital materials. Resources endorsed by Cambridge go through a detailed quality assurance process to ensure they provide a high level of support for teachers and learners.

We have resource lists which can be filtered to show all resources, or just those which are endorsed by Cambridge. The resource lists include further suggestions for resources to support teaching.

2.3 Training

We offer a range of support activities for teachers to ensure they have the relevant knowledge and skills to deliver our qualifications. See www.cie.org.uk/events for further information.

3. Syllabus content at a glance

Candidates/teachers will select one topic for each component. They may be related to each other (e.g. both US papers) but there is no requirement that this is the case.

6.3 Component 3

1 hour, 40 marks

Candidates will be given an extract from an historian's writing. The author of the extract will not be identified, nor will candidates be asked to identify the author. One extract will be set on each of the topics. The extract will be no more than 600 words in length. There will be a single question, asking candidates what they can learn from the extract about the interpretation and approach of the historian who wrote it. They will be expected to show knowledge and understanding of the events and developments included in the topic (Assessment Objective 1(a)), but the purpose of the study will be for them to develop the ability to analyse and evaluate how aspects of the past have been interpreted and represented in different ways (Assessment Objective 2(b)). Answers will be marked out of a total of 40 marks (20% of the total A Level assessment).

Candidates are required to answer one question on their chosen topic:

- Topic 1: The Causes and Impact of British Imperialism, c.1850–1939
- Topic 2: The Holocaust
- Topic 3: The Origins and Development of the Cold War, 1941–1950

While candidates will be expected to have an awareness of different interpretations, their study of the topic should not be simply historiographical. Rather, by considering different interpretations, candidates should develop an understanding of the nature of the discipline of History, and the ways in which History is produced.

In particular, through studying their chosen topic, candidates will need to consider why historians produce different interpretations of the same events, including:

- the fragmentary nature of historical evidence
- the selection and interpretation of evidence
- the ways that the passage of time can change the focus of historians' views, with the emergence of new evidence or new interpretations of other historians
- the ways that historians are influenced by the time and place in which they work.

They will also need to develop an awareness of the different approaches historians adopt to their work, including:

- how different historians ask different questions about their field of study
- how historians' approaches are influenced by their own ideology and beliefs (e.g. by focusing on issues of class, gender, the role of structures)
- the inter-relationship between historians' interpretations and approaches.

Topic 1: The Causes and Impact of British Imperialism, c.1850–1939

Candidates will study the following content and the differing interpretations that historians have produced, with a particular focus on the over-arching Key Question, What motives explain British Imperialism in this period?

| Key Content | Key Approaches |
|---|--|
| This topic covers the following events and developments in those parts of the British Empire which had not achieved self-rule by c.1900: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The nature and extent of British imperial rule • Formal and informal Empire • The 'New Imperialism', after c.1870 • Impacts of Empire on those who were colonised: developing challenges to imperial rule • Impacts of Empire on the metropole • Gender and Empire | Candidates should explore the following issues through the interpretations and approaches of different historians: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How can the acquisition of Empire be explained? • How far can Empire be explained in economic terms: the Hobson-Lenin interpretation and their critics? • How far was there change, and how much continuity, in imperial policy? • Top-down approaches: explanations stressing the role of social elites, 'gentlemanly capitalism' • How far were imperial decisions made at the metropole and how far at the periphery? • Approaches focusing on the periphery: the impact of Empire on individual places and peoples • Why was the Empire in decline by 1939? • Empire and culture: how the Empire was perceived and represented, the impact of Empire on British society • Gender and Empire: how important was the contribution of women in the Empire? • The balance sheet of Empire: who lost and who gained? |

Topic 2: The Holocaust

Candidates will study the following content and the differing interpretations that historians have produced, with a particular focus on the over-arching Key Question, Why did the Holocaust occur?

| Key Content | Key Approaches |
|---|---|

Was murderous behaviour the exception or were many involved? Why did non-Germans participate in the killings? – Victims: How far did Jews resist the Holocaust, and how can resistance be defined? Did men and women experience the Holocaust in different ways? Should definitions of the Holocaust include victims other than Jews? – Bystanders: How did the USA and Britain respond to the Holocaust at the time? |

Topic 3: The Origins and Development of the Cold War, 1941–1950

Candidates will study the following content and the differing interpretations that historians have produced, with a particular focus on the over-arching Key Question, Who was to blame for the Cold War?

Equality and inclusion

Cambridge International Examinations has taken great care in the preparation of this syllabus and assessment materials to avoid bias of any kind. To comply with the UK Equality Act (2010), Cambridge has designed this qualification with the aim of avoiding direct and indirect discrimination.

The standard assessment arrangements may present unnecessary barriers for candidates with disabilities or learning difficulties. Arrangements can be put in place for these candidates to enable them to access the assessments and receive recognition of their attainment. Access arrangements will not be agreed if they give candidates an unfair advantage over others or if they compromise the standards being assessed.

Candidates who are unable to access the assessment of any component may be eligible to receive an award based on the parts of the assessment they have taken.

Information on access arrangements is found in the Cambridge Handbook which can be downloaded from the website www.cie.org.uk/examsOfficers

Language

This syllabus and the associated assessment materials are available in English only.

Grading and reporting

Cambridge International A Level results are shown by one of the grades A*, A, B, C, D or E, indicating the standard achieved, A* being the highest and E the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate's performance fell short of the standard required for grade E. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate. The letters Q (result pending), X (no results) and Y (to be issued) may also appear on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

Cambridge International AS Level results are shown by one of the grades a, b, c, d or e, indicating the standard achieved, 'a' being the highest and 'e' the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate's performance fell short of the standard required for grade 'e'. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate. The letters Q (result pending), X (no results) and Y (to be issued) may also appear on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

If a candidate takes a Cambridge International A Level and fails to achieve grade E or higher, a Cambridge International AS Level grade will be awarded if both of the following apply:

- the components taken for the Cambridge International A Level by the candidate in that series included all the components making up a Cambridge International AS Level
- the candidate's performance on these components was sufficient to merit the award of a Cambridge International AS Level grade.

For languages other than English, Cambridge also reports separate speaking endorsement grades (Distinction, Merit and Pass), for candidates who satisfy the conditions stated in the syllabus.

Entry codes

To maintain the security of our examinations, we produce question papers for different areas of the world, known as 'administrative zones'. Where the component entry code has two digits, the first digit is the component number given in the syllabus. The second digit is the location code, specific to an administrative zone. Information about entry codes for your administrative zone can be found in the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries.
