www.papacambridge.com MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2012 series

0524 FIRST LANGUAGE ENGLISH

0524/21

Paper 2 (Reading Passages - Extended), maximum raw mark 50

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2012 series for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level components and some Ordinary Level components.

Cambridge.com Note: All Examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected app candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and demonstrated. Nonetheless, the content must be clearly related to and derived from the passage

Question 1

This question tests Reading Objectives R1–R3 (15 marks):

- understand and collate explicit meanings
- understand, explain and collate implicit meanings and attitudes
- select, analyse and evaluate what is relevant to specific purposes.

AND Writing Objectives W1–W5 (5 marks):

- articulate experience and express what is thought, felt and imagined
- order and present facts, ideas and opinions
- understand and use a range of appropriate vocabulary
- use language and register appropriate to audience and context
- make accurate and effective use of paragraphs, grammatical structures, sentences, punctuation and spelling.

Imagine that you are Rosemarie Alecio, the writer of the article. You have just returned home from your trip to the Andes and have agreed to be interviewed by your local radio station. The interviewer asks the following three questions only:

What did you hope to experience in the Andes? Was the trip everything you expected? What advice would you give to anyone intending to go on such a trip?

Write the words of the interview, beginning with the first question.

Base your interview on what you have read in Passage A. Be careful to use your own words. Write between $1\frac{1}{2}$ and 2 sides, allowing for the size of your handwriting.

Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer, and up to 5 marks for the quality of your writing.

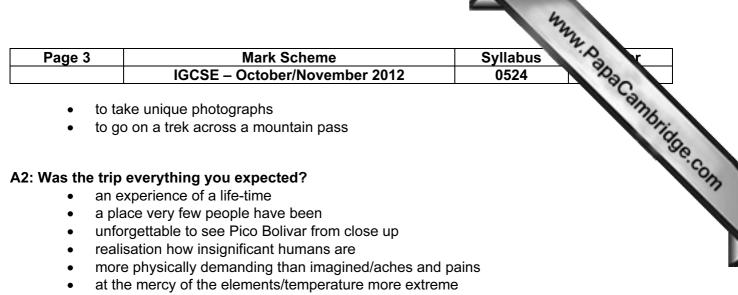

General notes on likely content

Candidates should select ideas from the passage and develop them, supporting what they write with details from the passage and judging the appropriate register for the genre and context. Bear in mind the difference between copying facts and giving opinions.

Look for a clear response and balanced format which covers the three areas of the question, is well sequenced, and is in the candidate's own words. Candidates might use the following ideas:

A1: What did you hope to experience in the Andes?

- to see the old city of Mérida
- to go on cable car
- to get to the top of the world
- to see amazing scenery/snowy peaks

- huge scale/beauty of landscape incredible
- isolation and loneliness
- tremendous sense of achievement

A3: What advice would you give to anyone intending to go on such a trip?

- the need to be physically fit/strong
- need to acclimatise during the stages
- having the right (warm/windproof) clothing/equipment
- having first aid and sun protection
- the need to be determined/well-motivated
- need to plan/prepare
- take a camera
- take water

Possible development:

- need for self-reliance/bravery/adventurousness
- be aware of danger of dehydration
- took longer than expected
- should travel in groups of three
- daunted/frightened (negative emotion)
- unforgettable/amazing (positive emotion)

General notes on likely content

This question is marked for the ability to select evocative or unusual words and for an understanding of ways in which the language is effective. Expect responses to provide words that carry connotations additional to general meaning.

Mark for the overall quality of the response, not for the number of words chosen, bearing in mind that a range of choices is required to demonstrate an understanding of how language works, and that these should include images. Do not take marks off for inaccurate statements; simply ignore them. It is the quality of the analysis that attracts marks.

Cambridge.com The following notes are a guide to what good responses might say about the selections make any sensible comment, but only credit those that are relevant to the correct meaning words in the context and that have some validity. Alternative acceptable explanations should credited.

(a) the scenery in paragraph 4, beginning 'What wonderful views...'

The general effect is one of height, of being almost able to touch the peak yet everything else seems to be miles below. There is also the sense of scale, i.e. of how comparatively tiny humans are in this landscape.

(image) views greeted us: gives the idea of being on the same level as the peak, and that they deserve a welcome for having arrived at the 'top of the world'

(image) snow-clad: covered in snow, as if wearing a garment (introduces personification continued through the paragraph)

(image) majestic, ancient and wise: these anthropomorphic adjectives personify the mountain, continuing the idea of being 'greeted'; they connote priest-like or god-like attributes (image) giant lording it: suggests not only the huge size of the mountain, and its human qualities, but also its proud domination of all it surveys meandering: the word should be explained as meaning winding/turning, but with a leisurely aspect; contrasts with the use of 'rushed', creating a paradox

(image) silver thread: an exotic, eye-catching image, to introduce fabric metaphor (image) woven into the dark fabric: emphasises the colour contrast between water and land and the height of the vantage point

No superlative: is an absolute, ruling out any argument, stressing how outstanding the scenery is

Responses may also comment on the effect of the use of exclamation marks to suggest awe.

(b) the challenges of the walk in paragraph 6, beginning 'The journey ahead...'

The overall impression is that the climb is daunting, arduous and endless, but nonetheless exciting because so extreme.

(image) steep, snaking climbs: the idea is conveyed (and accentuated by the alliteration) that the path is both sheer and winding, making it doubly difficult stretch to infinity: the paths go on out of sight, as if for ever; 'stretch' could be transferable to the muscles of the climbers

(image) no bigger than ants: feeling overwhelmed/threatened because vulnerable and exposed in the huge landscape

(image) stern sky: the word 'stern' picks up on idea of a giant lord in paragraph 4; more alliteration of 's' gives the impression that the mountain and sky are in collusion against the climbers

(image) whims of the elements: again there is the suggestion that the surroundings are human, and that they are an arbitrary law unto themselves (again picking up on 'lord') (image) an obstacle course: a challenge to cross because of the boulders

(image) across an ice rink: walking was difficult because of the slippery surface (image) luxury of a grassy cushion: ordinary grass has been elevated, by comparison to the hardness of the path, to the status of an especially soft and comfortable texture

Marking Criteria for Question 2

READING

Band 1: 9–10	Wide ranging discussion of language with some high quality comments that add meaning and associations to words in both parts of the question, and demonstrate the writer's reasons for using them. May give an overview of the paragraph's combined effect, or comment on language features additional to vocabulary. Tackles imagery with some precision and imagination. There is clear evidence that the candidate understands how language works.
Band 2: 7–8
Band 3: 5–6	A satisfactory attempt is made to identify appropriate words and phrases. The response mostly gives meanings of words and any attempt to suggest and explain effects is basic or very general. One half of the question may be better answered than the other.
Band 4: 3–4	The response provides a mixture of appropriate choices and words that communicate less well. The response may correctly identify linguistic devices but not explain why they are used. Explanations may be few, general, slight or only partially effective. They may repeat the language of the original or do not refer to specific words.
Band 5: 1–2	The choice of words is sparse or rarely relevant. Any comments are inappropriate and the response is very thin.
Band 6: 0	The response does not relate to the question. Inappropriate words and phrases are chosen or none are selected.

В	QUALITY OF WRITING: CONCISION, FOCUS AND WRITING IN OWN WORDS
	Use the following table to give a mark out of 5.
E	Sand 1:	Both parts of the summary are well focused on the	passage and the question All

Marking Criteria for Question 3

В QUALITY OF WRITING: CONCISION, FOCUS AND WRITING IN OWN WORDS

Band 1: 5	Both parts of the summary are well focused on the passage and the question. All points are expressed clearly, concisely and fluently, and in own words (where appropriate) throughout.
Band 2: 4	Most points are made clearly and concisely. Own words (where appropriate) are used consistently. The summary is mostly focused but may have an inappropriate introduction or conclusion.
Band 3: 3	There are some areas of concision. There may be occasional loss of focus or clarity. Own words (where appropriate) are used for most of the summary. Responses may be list-like or not well sequenced.
Band 4: 2	The summary is sometimes focused, but it may include comment, repetition, unnecessarily long explanation or lifted phrases. It may exceed the permitted length.
Band 5: 1	The summary is unfocused, wordy or overlong. It may be answered in the wrong form (e.g. narrative, commentary, or as notes). There may be frequent lifting of phrases and sentences.
Band 6: 0	Excessive lifting; no focus; excessively long.

It is important that candidates follow the instruction about writing a side in total for the summary, allowing for the size of the handwriting. The guidelines are as follows: large handwriting is approximately five words per line, average handwriting is eight/nine words per line, and small handwriting is eleven and more. Typed scripts consist of approximately 15 words per line.

A response is considered long if it goes up to 1¹/₄ pages; overlong if it reaches 1¹/₂ pages; excessively long if more than 1¹/₂ pages.

Note: A few candidates will copy the passage word for word or write in note form. These candidates will be limited in the mark they can achieve.
