

MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2012 question paper for the guidance of teachers

0480 LATIN

0480/01

Paper 1 (Language), maximum raw mark 65

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

- Cambridge will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2012 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

Specimen translation:

Eretria was being attacked with the utmost force. The Roman general had brought (up) very many machines/siege engines to capture the city as quickly as possible. The townspeople first of all were defending the walls lazily; then, with many now tired and wounded, when they had seen a part of the wall overturned by the work(s) of the enemy, decided to surrender. But there was a garrison of Macedonians in the city whom they feared no less than the Romans; and Philocles, the king's regional commander, sent messengers from the nearest town to announce that the regional commander would arrive in a short time if they maintained/continued to resist the siege. They, intent on peace, were carrying out the duties of war so lazily that, with the rest neglected, they were defending only that part of the wall which had been destroyed. Therefore the Roman leader in the middle of the night, after making an attack with ladders, from that direction/part which had been least suspected, took the city. All the citizens with their spouses and children fled into the citadel. Soon they surrendered. However, there was not much money or plunder or gold in the city.
