

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2013 series

0471 TRAVEL AND TOURISM

0471/23

Paper 2 (Alternative to Coursework), maximum raw mark 100

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2013 series for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level components and some Ordinary Level components.

Page 2	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

1 (a) (i) Identify two target markets for Rail of India.

Award one mark for each of two valid market segments. Correct answers are:

- Tourists from Japan (1)
- Tourists from Australia (1)
- People who prefer rail travel (1)
- Leisure tourists (1)
- Cultural tourists (1)
- English speaking tourists (1)

(ii) Explain one reason why marketing is important to travel and tourism providers, such as Rail of India, when launching a new product. [2]

Award one mark for the identification of the reason, and a second mark for a valid explanation of this reason.

Correct ideas include:

- Marketing is very important in the Introduction stage (1) to raise awareness of the new product in the market (1)
- Marketing can attach the new product to the existing brand image (1) so that repeat customers recognise that the organisation is offering something new (1)
- Launching the new product is expensive (1) marketing helps to ensure profitability (1)

(b) Explain one advantage and one disadvantage of market penetration as a suitable pricing policy for the 'Gateway to India' product. [6]

Award up to three marks for the explanation of each of one advantage and one disadvantage.

e.g.

Advantages:

Market penetration is a price set low to attract customers while a new brand is formed (1) increased sales (1) increased customer satisfaction (1)

Disadvantages:

The price may be not be sufficient for profit (1) customers may expect continuation of low price (1) competitors may lower prices (1)

(c) Identify and explain two ways in which Rail of India has developed its product to cater for the needs of customers from Japan and Australia. [6]

Award one mark for each of two identified ways that the product has been developed and up to two additional marks for explanation of each.

Correct ideas include:

- Welcome packs (1) different languages help customer to understand information (1) customer satisfaction (1) specific cultural points (1)
- Local representative (1) – secure for international tourists (1) customer satisfaction (1) support for specific needs (1)
- Places of interest (1) selected as special interest to Japan and Australia (1) attracts customers (1) no need to research itinerary (1)

Page 3	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

- (d) Discuss the range of distribution channels that would be suitable for Rail of India to attract new customers from Japan and Australia.

The candidate is expected to demonstrate knowledge of the range of distribution channels and to apply these to the case study.

Expected responses include:

- Global Distribution systems
- Internet
- Retailers
- Wholesalers

N.B. Direct selling is probably less suitable

Use levels of response criteria:

Level 1 (1–3 marks) at this level candidates will identify or list one, two or more of the distribution channels with no explanation.

Level 2 (4–6 marks) at this level candidates will explain one, two or more of the distribution channels and attempt to link to Rail of India.

Level 3 (7–9 marks) at this level candidates will analyse or evaluate the relative merit of a range of distribution channels and may make a judgement. Clear reference must be made to the need of Rail of India to extend its promotional campaign to Japan and Australia.

- 2 (a) Explain two ways in which tourism providers in Bulgaria can use the information from Fig. 2 to plan their marketing campaign for 2013. [4]

Award one mark for the identification of each of two valid factors and a second mark for an explanation of each. Correct ideas include:

- Identify target market (1) target cultural tourists (1) or promote architectural attractions (1) or show images of villages or rural attractions on leaflets (1)
- Send promotional material to native Bulgarians (1) use promotional pricing for local tourists (1) or use personal selling with local tourists (1)
- Send promotional materials to Greece, Romania, Germany (1) direct marketing in language of these to attract visitors (1)

- (b) Explain how tourism providers in Bulgaria might use the following pricing policies to increase sales of its food and travel services. [6]

Award up to two marks for the explanation of how each policy might be used within this context.

- Special offers: excursion and meal inclusive price (1) promotional price at food outlets (1) vouchers for tourists at food/travel outlets (1)
- Discount pricing: attract customers at a cheaper price than the all-inclusive deal (1) % reduction on food or travel packages (1)
- Variable pricing: attract customers of different age groups or in off-peak season (1) special prices for children/seniors or winter specials (1)

Page 4	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

(c) Explain how the following factors might affect the pricing policies used by tourism providers.

Award up to three marks for the valid explanation of each factor.

- Competition: need to overcome the effects of competitors' pricing (1) can use promotional pricing as additional incentive (1) unlikely to use discount pricing (1)
- Customers' expectations: prices must be at the level to attract customers (1) affordable within the likely budget of customers (1) seen as value for money (1)

(d) Compare and contrast the suitability of television advertisements with leaflets as methods of promoting cultural tourism. [9]

Candidates are expected to consider both TV and leaflets in the context of cultural tourism.

The main ideas discussed are likely to be:

- Cost of TV advertising (disadv)
- Impact of TV – visual/immediate (adv)
- Cannot be easily changed (disadv)
- TV can be viewed/recorded (adv)
- Leaflets can be given face to face (adv)
- Leaflets cost less to produce (adv)
- Leaflets can be updated but at a cost (adv)
- Leaflets can be sent by direct mail to cultural tourists (adv)
- Many leaflets are thrown away (disadv)
- To show cultural features, both can show attractive pictures, but TV can have a commentary (adv)

Use levels of response criteria:

Level 1 (1–3 marks) At this level candidates will list one, two or more of the main features of TV or leaflets. Peg at 2 marks if only one described.

Level 2 (4–6 marks) At this level candidates will use comparative language to compare or contrast e.g. whereas, on the other hand one, two or more features

Level 3 (7–9 marks) At this level candidates will analyse the advantages and disadvantages of both with reference to cultural tourists and will make a judgement as to relative effectiveness.

3 (a) Identify four ways in which The Skanis Hotel has created a family-friendly product. [4]

Award one mark for each of four valid responses.

Correct ideas include the following:

- family rooms (1)
- playroom (1)
- entertainment for all ages (1)
- free babysitting service (1)
- free entrance to local attractions (1)
- lifeguard (1)
- special family rates (1)
- swimming pool (1)
- supervised sports (1)

Page 5	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

(b) State and explain two advantages to travel and tourism organisations of e-ticketing.

Award one mark for the identification of each valid advantage and up to two additional marks for an appropriate explanatory comment about each. Correct ideas include:

- Cheaper (1) saves money on postage (1) saves money on printing (1)
- Customer satisfaction (1) customers can access ticket immediately (1) customers can do transaction at home (1)
- Increased sales (1) customers may choose the provider as it offers e-ticket (1) customers may benefit from lower prices (1)
- Avoid paying intermediaries' service fees (1) travel agent or other processing agents add charges (1) savings can be passed on to customer (1)

(c) The Skanis Hotel has introduced price bundling for its new family rooms. Explain one advantage and one disadvantage to customers of price bundling. [6]

Award one mark for each of one valid advantage and one disadvantage and up to two additional marks for explanation. Correct answers include:

Advantage: price bundling is having one price if several products are bought together (1) this is convenient for the customer at time of purchase (1) may be lower prices as provider can negotiate deals (1) can take advantage of prices reduced by bulk buying by The Skanis Hotel (economies of scale) (1)

Disadvantage: price bundling is limiting (1) the customer may pay more than if bought separately (1) the customer may not find this flexible (1) the customer cannot take advantage of special discounts from individual provider (1)

(d) Discuss how travel and tourism organisations are likely to use the marketing mix. [9]

Candidates are expected to show knowledge of the 4Ps: Product, Price, Place and Promotion. Product can be differentiated to make it attractive compared to any competition and to attract the target market; example of product/service. Price can be used to select prices which will attract customers to the new product such as price bundling. Place can be used to sell the product via more than one distribution channel. Promotion can be used by advertising/sending brochures/using internet to attract families.

Use levels of response criteria:

Level 1 (1–3 marks) Candidates will identify one, two or more of the 4Ps, giving a generic definition.

Level 2 (4–6 marks) At this level, candidates will explain one, two or more of the 4Ps, with relevant examples.

Level 3 (7–9 marks) At this level, candidates will give full exemplification of the 4Ps and form a judgement as to the relative importance of each aspect of the marketing mix. Candidates may note the change of emphasis at particular points of product development. Candidates may apply the marketing mix and judgements to The Skanis Hotel.

Page 6	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

4 (a) (i) Name two primary research techniques which may have been used in the production of this news item. [2]

Award one mark for each of two valid primary research techniques. Correct answers include:

- Questionnaires (1)
- Surveys (1)
- Interviews (1)
- Focus Groups (1)

(ii) Give one advantage and one disadvantage of using primary research data. [2]

Award one mark for a valid advantage and one for a valid disadvantage. Correct answers include:

- Gain customers' opinions (adv)
- Quick (adv)
- Costly (disadv)
- Can be unreliable (disadv)

(b) Windmills of Holland is at the maturity stage of the product life cycle. Explain two ways in which Windmills of Holland could use the characteristics of the maturity stage to plan its marketing campaign. [6]

Award one mark for the identification of each of two valid ways and up to an additional two marks for explanatory statements about each.

- Promotion (1) by targeting existing customers (1) using established brand image (1)
- Use pricing policies (1) to overcome new competition (1) loss leader or going rate pricing (1)

(c) Explain three reasons why brand image may be important to travel and tourism providers, such as Windmills of Holland, when planning effective promotional materials. [6]

Award one mark for the identification of each of three reasons and an additional mark for appropriate explanation of each reason.

- Attract repeat customers (1) with logos, image, slogan (1)
- Target new customers (1) use an exciting brand image to draw them in (1)
- Can be used to fulfil AIDA (1) brand image helps create interest and desire (1)
- Competition (1) promotional materials emphasise brand image to gain market share (1)

Page 7	Mark Scheme	Syllabus
	IGCSE – October/November 2013	0471

(d) Discuss the locational factors that may influence travel and tourism organisations in their choice of site for a visitor attraction.

Candidates will need to consider a range of factors associated with location choice. Correct ideas will include:

- Access and transport links. There needs to be suitable road/rail/air routes available so that tourists can access the visitor attraction
- Availability of staff. Customer service depends on staff and so there need to be enough people in the area who can manage the museums and food outlets.
- Costs. To make a profit, the cost of establishing the visitor attraction in this location needs to be within the budget of the provider
- Adjacent facilities. The attraction should not be too close to potential competitors but should be located so that visitors can take advantage of facilities such as fuel, food and accommodation.
- Characteristics of the area. Existence of historic windmills.

Use level of response criteria:

Level 1 (1–3 marks) Candidates will identify one, two or more factors.

Level 2 (4–6 marks) Candidates will explain one, two or more factors

Level 3 (7–9 marks) At this level candidates will analyse/evaluate one, two or more factors and will make some judgement as to the relative importance of these factors.