As many of us know, one of the most effective ways to keep our hearts healthy is to stay physically active. While many of us think that we need to engage in more intense exercise to keep ourselves fit, this is not true. Health experts have said that if we walk for half an hour every morning especially a brisk walk, we can improve our chances of having a strong and healthy heart by as much as forty percent. Additional benefits of regular exercise include keeping other vital organs healthy, improving blood circulation, maintaining your weight and preventing many diseases.

Walking could be turned into a family activity as it allows family members to spend quality time together in a positive way. This encourages your children to adopt good habits from an early age, as well as carrying out walking as a form of keeping fit and build their self-confidence.

However, there are other factors that are important, such as eating a balanced diet and reducing stress but regular exercise is a good starting point for a healthier life style.
