SAMPLE MARK SCHEME

Duration: 2 hours

MAXIMUM MARK 126

SPECIMEN

This document consists of 36 pages.

MARKING INSTRUCTIONS – FOR MARKING ON-SCREEN AND FOR PAPER BASED MARKING

1. Mark strictly to the mark scheme.
2. Marks awarded must relate directly to the marking criteria.
3. The schedule of dates is very important. It is essential that you meet the scoris 50% and 100% deadlines. If you experience problems, you must contact your Team Leader (Supervisor) without delay.
4. If you are in any doubt about applying the mark scheme, consult your Team Leader by telephone or via the scoris messaging system, or by email.
5. Crossed Out, Rubric Error (Optional Questions) and Multiple Responses

Crossed Out Responses

Where a candidate has crossed out a response and provided a clear alternative then the crossed out response is not marked. Where no alternative response has been provided, examiners may give candidates the benefit of the doubt and mark the crossed out response where legible.

Rubric Error Responses – Optional Questions

Where candidates have a choice of question across a whole paper or a whole section and have provided more answers than required, then all responses are marked and the highest mark allowable within the rubric is given. (The underlying assumption is that the candidate has penalised themselves by attempting more questions than necessary in the time allowed.)

Contradictory Responses

When a candidate provides contradictory responses, then no mark should be awarded, even if one of the answers is correct.

Short Answer Questions (requiring only a list by way of a response, usually worth only one mark per response)

Where candidates are required to provide a set number of short answer responses then only the set number of responses should be marked. The response space should be marked from left to right on each line and then line by line until the required number of responses have been considered. The remaining responses should not then be marked. Examiners will have to apply judgement as to whether a 'second response' on a line is a development of the 'first response', rather than a separate, discrete response. (The underlying assumption is that the candidate is attempting to hedge their bets and therefore getting undue benefit rather than engaging with the question and giving the most relevant/correct responses.)

Short Answer Questions (requiring a more developed response, worth two or more marks)

If the candidates are required to provide a description of, say, three items or factors and four items or factors are provided, then mark on a similar basis – that is downwards (as it is unlikely in this situation that a candidate will provide more than one response in each section of the response space.)

Longer Answer Questions (requiring a developed response)

Where candidates have provided two (or more) responses to a medium or high tariff question which only required a single (developed) response and not crossed out the first response, then only the first response should be marked. Examiners will need to apply professional judgement as to whether the second (or a subsequent) response is a 'new start' or simply a poorly expressed continuation of the first response.

6. Always check the additional pages (and additional objects if present) at the end of the response in case any answers have been continued there. If the candidate has continued an answer there then add a tick to confirm that the work has been seen. The 'link page' check box should be used on scoris to link candidate responses in additional objects to the corresponding question number.
 - a. Where additional objects are present, all pages must contain an annotation, or scoris will not allow you to submit the script. Where no response is given by a candidate on a whole page the 'BP' annotation must be applied.
 - b. Where generic answer booklets are used, all pages must contain an annotation, or scoris will not allow you to submit the script. Where no response is given by a candidate on a whole page the 'BP' annotation must be applied.
 - c. Where structured answer booklets are used, the 'BP' annotation must be applied to all pages where no response is given by a candidate.
7. There is a NR (No Response) option. Award NR (No Response)
 - if there is nothing written at all in the answer space
 - OR if there is a comment which does not in any way relate to the question (e.g. 'can't do', 'don't know')
 - OR if there is a mark (e.g. a dash, a question mark) which isn't an attempt at the question

Note: Award 0 marks - for an attempt that earns no credit (including copying out the question)

8. The scoris comments box is used by your team leader to explain the marking of the practice responses. Please refer to these comments when checking your practice responses. Do not use the comments box for any other reason.
If you have any questions or comments for your team leader, use the phone, the scoris messaging system, or e-mail.

9. For answers marked by levels of response:

- To determine the level start at the highest level and work down until you reach the level that matches the answer
- To determine the mark within the level consider the following:

Descriptor	Award mark
On the borderline of this level and the one below	At bottom of level
Just enough achievement on balance for this level	Above bottom and either below middle or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)
Meets the criteria but with some slight inconsistency	Above middle and either below top of level or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)
Consistently meets the criteria for this level	At top of level

10. Annotations

	Blank Page – this annotation must be used on all blank pages within an answer booklet (structured or unstructured) and on each page of an additional object where there is no candidate response.

11. Awarding Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar to scripts with a coversheet

a. If a script has a scribe cover sheet it is vital to check which boxes are ticked and award as per the instructions and grid below:

- i. Assess the work for SPaG in accordance with the normal marking criteria. The initial assessment must be made as if the candidate had not used a scribe (or word processor) and was eligible for all the SPaG marks.
- ii. Check the cover sheet to see what has been dictated (or what facilities were disabled on the word processor) and therefore what proportion of marks is available to the candidate.
- iii. Convert the SPaG mark to reflect the correct proportion using the conversion table given below.

SPaG mark awarded	Mark if candidate eligible for one third (eg grammar only)	Mark if candidate eligible for two thirds (eg grammar and punctuation only)

- b. If a script has a word processor cover sheet attached to it the candidate can still access SPaG marks (see point 1 above) unless the cover sheet states that the checking functionality is enabled, in which case no SPaG marks are available.
- c. If a script has a word processor cover sheet AND a scribe cover sheet attached to it, see point 1 above.
- d. If the script has a transcript, Oral Language Modifier, Sign Language Interpreter or a Practical Assistant cover sheet, award SPaG as normal.

Subject-specific Marking Instructions

General points

It is important to remember that we are rewarding candidates' attempts at grappling with challenging concepts and skills. Reward candidates for what they know, understand and can do. Be positive. Concentrate on what candidates can do, not on what they cannot do.

[3] mark questions are assessed via points based marking. For all other questions, your first task is to match the response to the appropriate level of response according to the generic levels of response given after the indicative content. Only when you have done this should you start to think about the mark to be awarded. Please note – the bandings for Assessment Objectives are not dependent; there is no requirement for a response to be awarded in the same band for AO2 as has been awarded in AO1.

There are different ways of reaching a high level. Some candidates will go straight to the higher levels. Other candidates will gradually climb their way there by working their way through lower levels first.

The mark scheme for each paper will list responses which a candidate might offer. The list will not be exhaustive; it does not provide 'correct' answers, and where a candidate offers a response which is not listed, examiners will be expected to use their knowledge and discretion as to whether the response is valid. Examiners who are in any doubt should contact their Team Leader immediately.

Specific points

Do not transfer marks from one part of a question to another. All questions, and sub-questions, are marked separately.

Mark what the candidate has written - do not assume that the candidate knows something unless they have written it.

The levels of response start with one from the following list of flag words:

Weak, Limited, Some, Adequate but under-developed, Good

During the standardisation process, examples of work at each level will be used to define the meaning of these flag words for the examination. In particular the word 'good' must not be interpreted as the best possible response. It will be what is judged to be 'good' according to the generic levels of response, although better responses could be offered.

Remember that we are trying to achieve two things in the marking of the scripts:

- (i) to place all the candidates in the correct rank order
- (ii) to use the full range of marks available – right up to the top of the range; ‘Good’ means a good response from a GCSE candidate and can therefore be awarded the highest marks.

This means that it is imperative you mark to the agreed standard.

Written communication, Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar

Written communication covers: clarity of expression, structure of arguments, presentation of ideas, grammar, vocabulary, punctuation and spelling.

In the marking of these questions the quality of the candidate's written communication will be one factor (other factors include the relevance and amount of supporting detail) that influences whether an answer is placed at the bottom, the middle, or the top, of a level.

The following points should be remembered:

- answers are placed in the appropriate level according to the RS assessment objectives, i.e. no reference is made at this stage to the quality of the written communication;
- the quality of Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar must never be used to move an answer from the mark band of one level to another;
- accept any reasonable alternative spelling of transliterated words from non-Roman alphabets in learners' responses.

SPaG is now assessed in e) part of the first question. Please refer to the grid overleaf when awarding the SPaG marks.

The Regulator now requires GCSE Religious Studies to assess the quality of extended responses by candidates. Marks are not specifically given for this assessment however. This assessment takes place in e) part of the second question. The levels descriptors for these are embedded in the Levels of Response, specifically AO2, and are italicised for clarity.

Spelling, punctuation and grammar (SPaG) Assessment Grid

High performance 3 marks
Learners spell and punctuate with consistent accuracy Learners use rules of grammar with effective control of meaning overall Learners use a wide range of specialist terms as appropriate
Intermediate performance 2 marks
Learners spell and punctuate with considerable accuracy Learners use rules of grammar with general control of meaning overall Learners use a good range of specialist terms as appropriate
Threshold performance 1 mark
Learners spell and punctuate with reasonable accuracy Learners use rules of grammar with some control of meaning and any errors do not significantly hinder overall Learners use a limited range of specialist terms as appropriate
0 marks
The learner writes nothing The learner's response does not relate to the question The learner's achievement in SPaG does not reach the threshold performance level, for example errors in spelling, punctuation and grammar severely hinder meaning

INFORMATION AND INSTRUCTIONS

- Practice scripts provide you with examples of the standard of each band. The marks awarded for these scripts will have been agreed by the Principal Examiners, Senior Team Leaders and Team Leaders and provide you with 'benchmark' examples of the approach to marking.
- The specific task-related indicative content for parts d) and e) of each question will help you to understand how the band descriptors may be applied. However; this indicative content is not an exhaustive list of 'correct' responses: it is material that candidates might use, grouped according to each assessment objective tested by the question. This needs to be used in close conjunction with the relevant Levels of Response marking grid, which is positioned below the indicative content. The guidance column on the right of the mark scheme will provide further exemplification and support as to the interpretation of answers, where required.

Assessment objectives (AO)

Assessment Objectives
AO1	Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion and belief including <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • beliefs, practices and sources of authority • influence on individuals, communities and societies • similarities and differences within and/or between religions and their beliefs.
AO2	Analyse and evaluate aspects of religion, including their significance and influence.

Question	Indicative content	Marks	Guidance
1	(a) Describe one way in which a Muslim might respond to the idea of cohabitation. Responses might include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Premarital sex is forbidden in Islam and marriage is viewed as important. As such cohabitation is generally viewed as unacceptable/sinful within Islam • According to Islamic law it is actually classed as a crime • However, in practice younger Muslims are choosing to cohabit – even in Islamic countries 	3 AO1	Marks should be awarded for a statement plus any combination of development and/or exemplification.
	(b) Outline Muslim teachings about divorce and remarriage. Learners might consider some of the following: Various Qur’anic texts show marriage as the ideal and Allah is said to reward those who marry. In surah 7 v 189 it says that Allah created a mate for man to love, which shows that marriage can be seen as a gift from Allah. However, marriage for Muslims is not regarded as a sacrament but more of a contractual matter, binding the couple together and by implication the families of the couple. It can also be seen, therefore, to strengthen the ummah. Divorce is permitted in Islam but is regarded as a last resort. Muslims accept the legal contract between two people can be ended. Learners may refer to that people do have free will and that certain issues are a matter of conscience and of personal choice; although Islam does not encourage divorce it does accept its inevitability in certain circumstances and has taken steps to ensure, as far as possible, that all parties suffer as little as possible. Learners may refer to the three month period where reconciliation should be attempted. A man may not seek a divorce from his wife until it is certain she is not pregnant. A woman can also seek a divorce either by agreement with her husband or because of his treatment of her. Learners may discuss the possibility of remarriage to each other as a couple or other people.	6 AO1	The teachings referred to here may vary from one centre to another. Any appropriate references should be credited. Examiners should mark according to AO1 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

(c)	Explain how and why Muslim men and women have differing roles in the family. You should refer to sources of wisdom and authority in your answer. Learners might consider some of the following: AO1: Men are regarded as the head of the family. It is their duty to provide financially for the family. Women are to maintain and take care of their husbands and nurture and educate any children they have. They are also responsible for maintaining an Islamic home. AO2: Men and women are considered equal spiritually and are both encouraged to seek knowledge and education. However, their roles within the family are seen as complimentary. Men are to provide financially for their family. This goes back to the time of Muhammad when men were generally the ones that worked. This is also why men can inherit a larger portion than women as their money is for the family. Women are expected to nurture and bring up any children in the family. This includes instilling strong Islamic values in them and is an incredibly important role. Muhammad attached great importance to the role of a mother. Women are allowed to work as long as doing so is not detrimental to family life. Unlike men any money earned is hers and doesn't have to be used for the family.	6 2 AO1 4 AO2	Examiners should mark according to AO1 and AO2 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

(d)	“Being celibate enables a person to be a better Muslim.” Discuss this statement. In your answer, you should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Draw on your learning from across your course of study, including reference to beliefs, teachings and practices within Islam • Explain and evaluate the importance of religious points of view from the perspective of Islam. Learners might consider some of the following: AO1: Learners might offer description and explanation of the meaning of celibacy and general reasons which have been given for following a celibate lifestyle. They might refer to the view that celibacy releases a person from the distractions of close relationships, and enables them to concentrate on spiritual matters alone. AO2: Learners might point out that from a Muslim point of view; marriage is an important part of Muslim communities. Sex is a gift from Allah which has two overriding purposes: procreation and strengthening bonds. It is also fundamental in building a strong ummah. It is unlikely then that many Muslims would agree with the quote. In fact celibacy is generally regarded as either makruh or haram by most Muslims. Unlike religions such as Christianity and Buddhism there is also no monastic tradition within Islam. Muhammad had wives and was said to encourage marriage. This suggests that as a whole Islam does not encourage celibacy and so it is unlikely that following this path will make you a better Muslim. However, some Muslims might agree with the quote. Homosexuality is forbidden in Islam so there could be an argument that if you are homosexual adopting celibacy may make you a better Muslim. There have been some examples of Sufi Muslims who have chosen celibacy in order to focus on their worship of Allah. The distractions caused by marriage and sex are avoided and so may be possible to build a stronger relationship with Allah. In Islam it is generally easier to justify a temporary form of celibacy rather than as a lifelong commitment.	15 3 AO1 12 AO2 3 SPaG ()	Examiners should mark according to AO1 and AO2 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question. Please refer to the SPaG response grid on page 8.

(c)	Explain why there are different beliefs about Allah’s relationship with humanity. You should refer to sources of wisdom and authority in your answer. Learners might consider some of the following: AO1: Learners might set the explanation in the context of the difference between Sunni, Shi’a and Sufi perspectives. Learners might reference and develop religious teachings which support different perspectives, from authoritative sources such as sacred texts or religious leaders. They might also refer to specific environmental issues, and actions being taken regarding them. AO2: Learners might analyse the attitudes in these different Islamic perspectives Allah’s relationship with humanity. Muslims believe human beings are a special creation of Allah, with a status above other living things. Because of this Muslims have a special responsibility towards the world and a particular role to fulfill. Muslims are khalifah (vice-regents) with not only the right to use what Allah has provided but also the responsibility to do so carefully and with respect. Muslims are also the only creature capable of having a relationship with Allah, and this was part of the purpose of our creation. It is clear that human beings currently have the greatest power to shape and change the world as well as to damage it, and this certainly gives us a high level of responsibility towards it from both a religious and a secular viewpoint.	6 2 AO1 4 AO2	Examiners should mark according to AO1 and AO2 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

(d)	“There is no proof that Allah acts in the world.” Discuss this statement. In your answer, you should: Draw on your learning from across your course of study, including reference to beliefs, teachings and practices within Islam. Explain and evaluate the importance of religious points of view from the perspective of Islam. Learners might consider some of the following: AO1: Learners might give a general description and explanation of the concept of proof in relation to the concept of God. They might refer to the view that a distinction needs to be drawn between religious proofs and, for example, scientific proof. When it comes to evidence relating to Allah however, faith is a large factor. AO2: Learners might refer to the example of Muhammad who refused to perform miracles when asked for proof of Allah’s existence. Some Muslims might use this as evidence that Allah does not act in the world and that there is therefore no empirical proof of his existence. Some of the 99 names of Allah could also be used to support the idea that He does not act in the world. For example, He is referred to as Hidden and the Originator. Clearly Hidden suggests that He is unseen in the world and presumably doesn’t act in it. The title Originator could mean that He created the universe but no longer has any involvement in it. Reference may also be made to secular views from people such as Stephen Hawking and Richard Dawkins who would agree with the quote. There is no scientific proof for the existence of God. The idea of God is irrelevant in the modern world and reflects a time when people relied on of superstition as a result of ignorance, things which mankind must outgrow. However, there are a variety of ways that other Muslims may use to prove that Allah does act in the world. Despite Muhammad’s reluctance to perform miracles, for many Muslims, miracles can be used to show Allah as active in the world. The Qur’an being the greatest miracle of all. As the words of Allah it acts as guidance to all Muslims so Allah could be seen to act in the world through the Qur’an. Various aspects of Muhammad’s life could also be used as evidence. The revelations and al-Miraj both show Allah as acting in the world.	15 3 AO1 12 AO2 3 SPaG ()	Examiners should mark according to AO1 and AO2 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question. Please refer to the SPaG response grid on page 8.

3	(a) Describe one Muslim belief about forgiveness. Responses might include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • One of Allah’s 99 names is the forgiver which shows the importance of forgiveness. There are many ways a Muslim may choose to improve social injustice. For example, paying zakat and sadaqah are aimed at reducing economic inequalities within Muslim society. There are Muslim charities such as Islamic Relief and the Red Crescent that Muslims may choose to donate to or volunteer with that are aimed at improving social injustice. AO2: Learners may discuss the idea that some Muslims might chose to try and address social injustices in the local community first. Whereas other Muslims will make no distinction between the worldwide ummah and the local community. Some Muslims may choose to improve social injustice by donating money and goods. Others may become actively involved by volunteering – this can take many forms such as travelling out to countries affected by social injustices and offering physical help. Other Muslims may choose to try and improve social injustice by promoting ideas rather than practical help. This could be through raising public awareness of issues etc. Learners may also discuss the idea that some may focus first on their personal jihad. Trying to ensure that they behave justly before turning their attention to the wider world.	6 AO1	Examiners should mark according to AO1 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

(c)	How can Muslim teachings be used to help combat terrorism? You should refer to sources of wisdom and authority in your answer. Learners might consider some of the following: AO1: Learners might outline the view that the word Islam comes from the Arabic root s-l-m which relates to the concept of peace (salaam). This backs up the idea (teaching) of Islam as a religion of peace and could be used to show that Islam does not advocate terrorism. The word Muslim means one who submits and therefore one who will submit to the peaceful will of Allah. AO2: Learners might analyse other teaching to show that Muslim sources of authority and wisdom do not support terrorism. For example, in the Qur'an it says that those who are guilty of blood shed will be the first people to be judged. This again could be used to show that Islam does not support terrorism. Muslims are taught that suicide is haram in Islam. (d)*	“Forgiveness and reconciliation are the only ways to achieve a peaceful society.” Discuss this statement. In your answer, you should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Draw on your learning from across your course of study, including reference to beliefs, teachings and practices within Islam • Explain and evaluate the importance of religious points of view from the perspective of Islam. AO1: Responses may start with a general discussion of Islam being a religion of peace. One that teaches there should be no compulsion in religion. AO2: Learners might consider the attitude that these kinds of sentiments imply that many Muslims would, therefore, agree with the statement. In the Qur’an, specifically surah 42v40, it says that those who reconcile will be blessed by Allah. This shows the importance of reconciliation in Islam. Allah is also portrayed in the 99 names as all forgiving which means that humans should also be seeking to forgive those who need it. Muhammad showed through example that forgiveness and reconciliation lead to a peaceful society. Through the constitution of Madinah he afforded rights to minority groups and he sought no revenge on the Makkans when he took Islam back to the city. There are also examples that learners may draw on of attempts at reconciliation in Palestine/Israel. For example, the Unity Government and the Hamas-Fatah agreement. There are some Muslims, however, who may feel that there are other ways of achieving a peaceful society. The fact that Muhammad engaged in a number of battles with the Makkans is taken by some as justification to use violence as a means of securing a peaceful society. It is also clear from the example of organisations such as ISIS and al-Qa’ida that some Muslims believe violence and terrorism is an acceptable way of ultimately trying to create a ‘peaceful Islamic’ society. Although it is arguable that this has any Islamic justification.	15 3 AO1 12 AO2	Examiners should mark according to AO1 and AO2 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

4 (a)	Describe one way in which society in the UK has become more secular. Responses might include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> As a society in general we are more concerned with the material than the spiritual as compared to the past. Celebrity culture and material possessions have become much more important to many people. As a result there are, arguably, less people focussed on religion than in the past For many people their attitudes towards moral issues such as sex, marriage and divorce have become more liberal. (b)	How do Muslims contribute to interfaith dialogue in the UK? In your response you must consider that religious traditions in Great Britain are diverse, but mainly Christian. Responses might include: Interfaith dialogue refers to the co-operation and positive interaction of different religious groups. Even though the underpinning religious traditions are Christian, since the UK is now such a diverse society of many religions and non-religious groups, interfaith dialogue is seen to be increasingly important for many religious groups. Learners might be aware of different national and local bodies involved in bringing the Muslim community together and interacting with other religious communities. Some groups exist to give a religious voice in government consultation, and this may entail working with other religions to ensure equity. Others are set up to support the Muslim community but includes building positive relationships with other religious communities in their aims. Some learners might wish to consider the forms interfaith communication might take, for example; major world religions are represented on most local SACREs, enabling them to contribute to the development of Religious Education. Learners might also draw on other examples such as visiting schools, contributing to community or national celebrations and events, conducting interfaith marriages, addressing causes of conflict and getting involved in political debate.	6 AO1	Examiners should mark according to AO1 descriptors found on page 9. Please refer to the Level of Response grid below when marking this question.

There are many un-Islamic practises that are allowed/encouraged in secular society such as drinking alcohol, premarital and extramarital sex. AO2: Learners might evaluate the view that living in this kind of environment makes it difficult to live according to Islam as there are too many temptations available. The economy in secular society is also not necessarily in accordance with Islamic principles. For example the charging of interest is un-Islamic yet there are not enough Islamic banks in secular societies to allow Muslims to avoid this. Also not all areas have mosques and easy access to other Muslims which may make it difficult to live according to Islam. However, the existence of the internet and social media makes it possible for Muslims to access the ummah from anywhere and so they can draw support in this way to help live according to Islam.
